SPACE DIVISION BUSINESS IS BOOMING Going from strength to strength

ISSUE 5. 25.01.2010

Since Orangebox acquired Volume in April the relationship and sales of space division products has gone from strength to strength, with turnover expected to more than double by the end of the anniversary next year.

The original Volume team of 9 people continue to cover design, sales support, administration and assembly of all the screening, storage products and Airea room systems. This is testament to the confidence and commitment the team has, and how successful Orangebox is in the marketplace. The strong relationship between the two companies prior to the acquisition has only increased.

Orangebox's investment in the Northern team has allowed for the expansion of our space division portfolio and the combined in-house design team have already collaborated to create Smartworking, a unique collection of seating, tabling, screening and flexible room systems.

The Northern showroom will see a re-fit programme in early January to incorporate all of the Orangebox Smartworking range, creating a fantastic showcase for the Northern sales team and their clients.

Watch this space very closely.... it will be filled with more unique products from Orangebox very soon.
